

Chapter 4

- indentured servants
- influence of tobacco
- Bacon's Rebellion
- middle passage
- Half-Way Covenant
- Salem Witch Trials

- What led to the high mortality rate in the Chesapeake?
- How did tobacco change the need for labor?
- What was the significance of Bacon's Rebellion?
- How did slavery become the main source of labor in the South?
- What was the economic structure of the South?
- What was the role of the family in New England?
- What was the importance of towns in New England?
- How did the Salem witch trials reveal tensions in New England?
- What factors shaped life in New England?

Chapter 5

- Scots-Irish
- Stono Rebellion
- economic structure
- emergence of "professions."
- triangular trade
- transportation issues
- Great Awakening
- Old Lights/New Lights
- New England education
- Zenger Trial
- royal colonies

- How did different races shape the American identity?
- What forms of slave resistance developed?
- How did the economic structure in the colonies compare to England?
- How were clergy, physicians and lawyers viewed in colonial society?
- What was the significance of the Triangular Trade?
- Why was transportation so difficult?
- How did the Great Awakening impact both religion and the emergence of American Culture?
- Describe early American education
- What was the significance of the Zenger Trial?
- What conflicts emerged between colonial governors and colonial legislative bodies?
- What did colonial Americans do for fun?